Deadline for Session 3 is January 20, Early Bird January 13. We have a new team, the HA HA KEYS managed by Matt Snell, that will fill in the bye spot on the schedule. They will play 3 Session 2 make-up games this month. To keep things simple, all Early Bird bonuses will be 1 VP. Everyone got the Early Bird this time except F/X who NMR'd. Lottery number was 79; Vegies, Lords, SOCK, and Rockies each got one digit for $10K. Next lottery prize is $50K, $25K for one digit.

nICEGUYS-S.O.C.K.: Blew it all on a big man in goal, eh? Well here in 'zoo our opponents nets have nice wide mouths, and I only have to wait until match 18 to show ya. MOPAC-HAVANA: A railroad? That's ancient history. Though it did kind of look like your team jumped in front of one before you left town. But don't feel too bad, at least you didn't get 93 shots and still lose. And by the way, you'd feel Bland too if some Nebraska farmer named Bryan kept you for being President! (But more on that another time.) DALLAS: Owner D. Carter gave asistant coach Hanson a $1,000 bonus for covering when coach Hise was lost in flight and accidently shipped to Bohemia. ((Too bad the assistant didn't remain in charge..))

S.O.C.K.: The manager was disappointed in the 1st sessions team play. He was encouraged by the fine defensive play as other teams only scored 8 goals against us. The manager is hoping to improve the FW lines as time goes by. Could shoot for 93 shots on goal and still lose. While Conejos has 43 shots on goal and scores 33 goals in one game EEK! CONEJOS to MCHA: On Nov. 14, 1986, Rockies Head Coach Alex Pyle declared that the results of his first three games would indicate whether he was a genius or a fool. Let the record show...

FLINT-MCHA BOARO OF GOVERNORS: Hey, who was this gal named Mayo who scored against me? Doesn't show on the Lord's roster. RINGER!!! We want a forfeit victory. ((Sorry, no forfeits due to typeographical errors. The hack's identified above.)] nICEGUYS-CONEYJOES: Them sticks look mighty big to be regulation. -

MOPAC-TENNESEE: Whatever made you think Southerners could play hockey? I mean Texas doesn't even field a team! DALLAS COLUMNIST FLAKIE SHERROOD: The Dallas Lords are the newest of the great teams to come to the Metroplex. Yes Coomsday on ice is here and here to stay. FLINT-K'ZDO: Mastery of Michigan. How about a side bet on the Flint Spirits against K'Zoo in the 1HL? ((1 thought Minnesota mastered Michigan pretty well when the Wolverines paid us a visit a couple weeks ago. How about a side bet on the WCHA, anyone??)) nG-LOROS: Automatic pilot and in first place. This game is chancier with every variation. ((And the machine flies better than the human, what about that?)) FLINT-ROCK/SOCK: Ugh--so it's rock 'em/sock 'em hockey, eh?

UNITED HOCKEY QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

1) Players on the roster need only be designated at F, D or G. (Not F1, F2, etc.)

2) Players may not become qualified for both F and D.

3) Roughness may be used on either or both D lines. The maximum number of roughness points you may use in any game is the number of players in your lineup for that game, the minimum is one. Maximum roughness for any line is one point per player on the line.

4) Non-rookie zero level players are DK, though of course they can be coached only 3 levels this season.

5) i VP scouts one's own matches for a session, not the season as in the rules. No one has used scouting yet, should I eliminate it like K-ZINE has?

6) Rookies must play 3 matches in the season or be released, not 4 as stated under EXPANSION TEAMS.

7) You may pull the goaltender without regard to 3:1 balance. Rather than the complicated formula in the rules, it will add 20% to your FID1 shots. However, the final 20% of your opponent's FIDL shots will be fired at an empty net.

B) Playing out of position for a single shift may temporarily make 02 stronger than D1 or F3 stronger than F2. You must maintain 3:1 balance, though.

9) Don't forget there are 2 balance rules; 3:1, and Fl at least as strong as F2 at least as strong as F3, D1 at least as large as D2.

10) Lineup violations cost $10K each.

11) Forget the 50% miss rule.

12) Penalties and goals on a shift are allocated randomly on basis of skill level.

13) Payment for games is $100K per session, $10K for a loss, $20 for an overtime loss, $25K for a tie, $50K for

14) A couple of you were quite adamant about the out of position rule, so it stays. I found an easy way to program it in my shot formulas.

I'm too lazy to do it now, so a complete schedule with the Keys added in will be typed up for next time. The schedule will now consist of 27 games for each team, which means we can't have equal numbers of home and away games.

l've given the two late teams, the Rockies and the Keys, $175K and 4.5 VPs for Session I, equivalent to a result of 3 ties. They will make up 3 games against each other in Sessions 1V, VI, and VIII, and their cash and VP balances will be adjusted as those games are played. Those playing make up matches with the Keys for Session 11 have already reveived details, and you'll all receive the results of those games on a flyer.

Thanks for a little bit of patience with this issue. Frauke's been sick with the flu, I just finished a so-so quarter at school, Christmas is coming up much too fast for my liking, and I don't feel like doing much of anything.

As you see, my computer is up again, and 1 m still piecing together my tattered address list. Hopefully all my information will be up to date again next issue, though I'm sure I have all the COAs. I now have a modem and have subscribed to the QuantumLink online service. If any of you are on that system, let me know and 1°11 arrange to receive orders from you via their mail service.

It's hard to seem sincere this time of year. It seems every holiday message has been commercialized and propagandized in some way. But I am sincere in wishing each of you the best of holidays and peace in the new year. May you stab in good health!
